New Mexico's exhibit at the Charleston exhibition is said to be very creditable.

Debate on the Chinese exclusion bill continued in the Senate the first of the week.

The Santa Fe has just paid for the killing of three Isleta Indians at the rate of $20 each.

On Monday the House entered upon the second week of debate on the Cuban reciprocity bill.

Strike riots still continue in Belgium. The strikers are contending for reformed suffrage.

The Claire hotel at Santa Fe has been sold to George E. Ellis, who takes possession at once.

Great damage was done to berries, cotton, corn, and stock in Texas Saturday night by hail.

Berlin, Germany, was visited by a violent thunder storm Monday. Many buildings were struck by lightning.

There was a stormy debate in the House yesterday over the Cuban reciprocity bill. The final vote is taken today.

The court of private land claims will be continued another year in order to dispose of about 30 cases still pending.

At the end of the last fiscal year there were in New Mexico 1,755 pensioners of the United States drawing $263,590.49 every year.

Tomas Estrada Palma, president-elect of Cuba, took leave Tuesday of his friends in Central Valley, N. Y., where he lived during 18 years exile.

After a careful investigation President Roosevelt heartily endorses the conduct of Governor Dole in Hawaii and thinks he is entitled to a second term.

There are some prospects of peace in South Africa though the fighting continues with unabated vigor. Several engagements are reported for the week in which two or three hundred Boers and as many Britons were killed and wounded.

The miners of central and southwestern New Mexico are petitioning the Santa Fe for lower freight rates on their ores to the Cerrillos smelter. Present exorbitant charges at the trust smelter in El Paso make it impossible to ship any but the highest grade ores to that point, so say the miners.

A sergeant of the 26th volunteers testified before the senate committee Thursday to having administered the "water cure" in the Philippines last fall. The "cure" consists in forcing a stream of water down the victim's throat until he is full and then detailing soldiers to roll their fists over his stomach to force the water out at his mouth again—this to extort a confession.

If troubled by a weak digestion, loss of appetite, or constipation, try a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Every box warranted. For sale by A. E. Howell, Socorro; W. M. Borrowdale, Magdalena.

THE HOME GOLD CURE.

An Ingenious Treatment by which Drunkards are Being Cured Daily in Spite of Themselves.

No Noxious Doses. No Weakening of the Nerves. A Pleasant Positive Cure for the Liquor Habit.

It is now generally known and understood that Drunkenness is a disease and not a weakness. A body filled with poison, and nerves completely shattered by periodical or constant use of intoxicating liquors, requires an antidote capable of neutralizing and eradicating this poison, and destroying the craving for intoxicants. Sufferers may now cure themselves at home without publicity or loss of time from business by this wonderful "home gold cure" which has been perfected after many years of close study and treatment of inebriates. The faithful use according to directions of this wonderful discovery is positively guaranteed to cure the most obstinate case, no matter how hard a drinker. Our records show the marvelous transformation of thousands of Drunkards into sober, industrious and upright men.

Wives cure your husbands!! This remedy is no sense a nostrum but is a specific for this disease only, and is so skillfully devised and prepared that it is thoroughly soluble and pleasant to the taste, so that it can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it. Thousands of Drunkards have cured themselves with this priceless remedy, and as many more have been cured and made temperate men by having the "cure" administered by loving friends and relatives without their knowledge in coffee or tea, and believe today that they discontinued drinking of their own free will. Do not wait. Do not be deluded by apparent and misleading "improvement". Drive out the disease at once and for all time. The "home gold cure" is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, thus placing within reach of everybody a treatment more effective than others costing $25 to $50. Full directions accompany each package. Special advice by skilled physicians when requested without extra charge. Sent prepaid to any part of the world on receipt of One Dollar. Address Dept. E 117 Edwin B. Giles & Company, 2330 and 2332 Market Street, Philadelphia.

SHERIFF AND SOLDIERS SCRAMBLE.

Sheriff Baca Tackled by a Squad of Regulars. One Knocked Out With a Big Sixshooter.

A civilian was brutally assaulted at the delayed S. P. train by a private of Company D, Sixth Regiment, U. S. infantry, en route from the Philippines. Sheriff Baca placed the soldier under arrest and for a few moments it seemed that a pitched battle was imminent between the sheriff and about forty of the prisoner's comrades, who interfered and succeeded in assisting him to escape from the waiting room, where he had been taken. Sheriff Baca threw a dozen of them aside and followed his man to the platform of the coach. Here he attacked the sheriff, who pulled a gun and struck him a blow on the head that stretched him at full length upon the ground. A big, burly passenger, who might easily have been taken for a prizefighter, made a rush at the sheriff, and again the gun came into play. "Don't shoot," yelled the passenger, and up went his hands. "Don't do that! 'Don't shoot,' came from the soldiers who a moment before had Sheriff Baca hemmed against the car, but ran over each other in falling back when they saw the blue barreled contrivance for the ventilation of the human anatomy. In the scramble, the man the sheriff was trying to recapture gained the interior of the car and locked himself in the closet. Sheriff Baca concluded he had been sufficiently punished, and as the train was pulling out let him go, as the county would have been put to a lot of expense and received nothing in return.

The victim of the assault was drunk, and made the remark that "the soldiers were no good." He was about half as large as the man who struck him.—Deming Headlight.

The Rev. Henry Van Dyke tells this story of a negro who was fishing for tarpon in Florida. The fish which he hooked was a big one, and in spite of all the negro could do, the tarpon pulled him overboard. When he had been hauled into the boat again and the water had been shaken out of him, he remarked, chokingly, "What I want to know is, is dis nigger a-fishin' or was dat fish a-niggerin'?"

A Story About Hyman Lowitzki.

Arthur F. Stone of Vermont, who recently visited Santa Fe, writes as follows in the St. Johnsbury, Vermont, Caledonian, of one of Santa Fe's young men:

"The most interesting character so far met on the trip was our driver to the Indian village, a gallant trooper in Roosevelt's Rough Riders. He is the only one of the three men now living who buried Hamilton Fish on Cuban soil, and his account of the storming of San Juan hill was told with a modesty characteristic of the true soldier. After the regiment's discharge in New York the cowboy's love of pranks broke loose and he entered a New York riding academy and told the manager he wanted to take his first lesson in riding. The innocent manager led a Shetland pony around the ring for thirty minutes while the New Mexican cowboy awkwardly clung on its back. A few minutes later the manager nearly died of fright as he saw his pupil ride the most vicious horse in the academy around Central Park—and he rode him without saddle or bridle. My driver told me it was worth all it cost to see the police clear the tracks as he rode wildly down Broadway. It was just a bit of the strenuous life that Hyman Lowitzki had missed for many months and which finally came in the most unexpected place in the country he had served so well."

Wearing Out the Nerves.

Many people wear themselves out needlessly. Their conscience is a tyrant. An exaggerated sense of duty leads many a person to anxious, ceaseless activity, to be constantly doing something, overpunctual, never idle a second of time, scorn to rest. Such are in unconscious nerve tension. They say they have no time to rest, they have so much to do, not thinking they are rapidly unfitting themselves for probably what would have been their best and greatest work in after years. Self control of nerve force is the great lesson of health and therefore of life itself. To understand how to relax is to understand how to strengthen nerves. Hearty laughter is a source of relaxation, as are also all high thoughts, as those of hope, beauty, trust or love. Relaxation is found in diversion.—London Doctor.

A native ranchman, who was out hunting horses yesterday, found a child about eight miles northeast of Bernalillo. The child had been without food for four days, its face was burned and the lips dry and cracked and recovery is doubtful. The child was 6 years old and was the son of a Mrs. Hughes, of El Paso, who was visiting at San Francisco Springs. Saturday this child wandered away and after a three days' search it was given up as lost. The child was found lying in a shallow arroyo.—Albuquerque Citizen.
